Moving Day

Cooper and his family were packing up their things. They were moving all the way to San Francisco!

“Don’t worry Cooper,” Dad said with a smile. “You’re going to Love our new home!”

Saying Goodbye to Seattle

As the car pulled away, Cooper looked back at his old home.

He was going to miss his room, his school, and all his friends.

“Goodbye, Seattle,” he whispered.

Arriving in San Francisco

The family had finally made it to San Francisco. A funny looking train rolled past the steep streets; it’s bells ringing cheerfully!

“Look Cooper a Cable Car!” Mom said. “Wow” Cooper replied. “Can we get one?”. Both of Cooper’s Parents laughed. “I guess anything’s possible…” Dad replied.

Dad’s New Job

As the family unpacked their boxes, Cooper looked over at his Dad.

“Dad, what’s your new Job?” Cooper asked curiously.

“I work for a company called Dot Ai!” Dad replied.

Ai

“What’s Ai?” asked Cooper.

“Ai stands for Artificial Intelligence” Dad replied.

“It’s a new technology that can help people solve problems”.

Cooper’s eyes widened. “Wow! Can it help me unpack my room?” he asked.

Dad Laughed. “Well not quite! That’s a problem you’re going to have to figure out on your own buddy.”

Cooper gets his first Tablet

The next morning, Dad left for work as Mom enjoyed her morning coffee.

On the way out, Dad suddenly stopped and turned around.

“Oh, wait I almost forgot something Cooper!” He said with a smile. “The company gave me an extra Tablet, I think you are old enough to have one of your own now.”

Cooper’s eyes lit up with excitement.

Meet Dotty!

Cooper hurried to the couch and turned on his brand-new Tablet.

He tapped through the colored apps that were already installed from his Dad’s job. He spotted a little blue character wearing a black baseball hat.

“Dotty?” Cooper real aloud. As the Family’s dog wagged its tail.

Suddenly, the little blue character blinked.

Dotty Speaks!

“Hello Cooper!” a cheerful voice suddenly announced.

Cooper jumped, nearly dropping his Tablet!

“Whoa!” Cooper exclaimed. “You can TALK?!”

“Of course I can!” Dotty replied. “I’m Dotty, an App created by Dot Ai.

“Wait a minute…” Cooper said, scratching his head. “How do you already know my name?”

Dotty makes a really big Sandwich!

Your Dad set up your tablet just for you!” Dotty replied proudly.

“So… what exactly do you do?” Cooper Asked.

“Lot’s of things! Dotty exclaimed. “I can answer questions, help you learn, and come up with amazing ideas we can do!”

“Can you make me a Lunch Sandwich?” He asked.

Dotty giggled.

“Nope! But I can show you how to make the world’s BIGGEST Sandwich!”

Suddenly, an enormous Sandwich appeared on the screen. Piled high with Meats, Cheese, Tomatoes , and Lettuce!

“Woof! Woof!” barked the family dog.

Cooper burst into laughter.

“Dotty can you come out and play?” Cooper asked.

“I can’t actually leave your Tablet, Cooper. But we can use our imaginations!”

Mom wants Groceries

“Cooper it’s time to get dressed. You’re not wearing your PJ’s to the Grocery store buddy!” Mom said.

Off to the Grocery Store

“See I told you, you’d look great in that outfit” Dotty commented.

“You haven’t worn that hat in a while. Trying on a new wardrobe in your new city” Mom joked.

“See, sometimes new things can be fun. I think you’re going to like it here Cooper.”

Dotty got 50 Bananas!

“Cooper, why did you put 50 Bananas in the shopping cart?” Mom asked in surprise.

“It wasn’t me! Cooper replied. “I told Dotty you said Five bananas!”

“Well, Dotty better help us figure out how to put these bananas back!” Mom said, shaking her head.

“We’re not eating Bananas for the rest of the year!”

Oopsie!

“Oopsie! I guess I went a little BANANAS!” Dotty joked.

Cooper bursts into laughter!

Mom shakes her head with a smile as Cooper begins putting back the 45 extra bananas.

Sea Lions!

On the drive home, Cooper hears a loud bark near the waterfront.

“Mom! I think our dog has cousins!”

Dotty laughs. “Those aren’t dogs, Cooper! They’re sea lions!”

The Golden Gate Bridge!

Cooper saw the Golden Gate Bridge up close for the first time as Mom continued the drive home.

“Dotty! Why is that Bridge Red?” Cooper asked.

“That’s the Golden Gate Bridge Cooper!” Dotty replied. It’s painted a color called International Orange, not Red” The bright color helped people see it through the fog!”

Home!

“Mom, I think our new home is pretty cool after all!” Cooper said.

“See, Buddy? I told you there were wonderful things to discover here!” Mom replied.

“Cooper please take out the trash and put your Tablet in your room,” Mom said.

“Your Dad will be home soon and Dinner’s almost ready!”

“Okay, Mom!” Cooper replied.

Taking out the trash!

“Dotty, do you know any easier way to take out the trash?” Cooper asked.

“Of course!” Dotty chirped. We can build a giant rocket and blast it all the way to the MOON!”

Cooper felt a tug on the trash bag.

Cooper looked down at the trash bag and smiled.

“I think somebody has a better idea!”

Dad’s home!

“Hey Buddy!” called a familiar voice.

Cooper turned around in surprise. Dad was home!

“Hey, Dad!” Cooper shouted with a big smile.

Dad stepped out of the car and laughed.

“Well, look at that! My little man is already taking out the trash at our new house!”

Cooper grinned proudly.

All by Myself!

Everyone sat down for Dinner, even the family dog, who happily munched away at his bowl.

“So how was everyone’s first day in our new home?” Dad asked.

Cooper and Mom looked at each other and laughed.

“It was a little BANANAS, but I learned a lot today!” Cooper replied.

Mom chuckled. “Well, I hope one of those things was how to take out the trash!”

Dad smiled. “Sounds like quite an adventure!”

Cooper Grinned. ~ And to think, it was only his first day in their new home!
